The Services being provided:

Providers will provide timely services which contribute to stabilizing and strengthening families to prevent the need for out-of-home care when possible. Services which are evidenced-based must be delivered to fidelity of the model. Program capacity must take into account families that are referred on an "emergency basis" as well as severity of need and must have 24/7 on call capacity for families experiencing a crisis after hours.

High Fidelity Wrap Around Services

Wraparound is a planning process that follows a series of steps to help children and families achieve stated goals. The goal of Wraparound is to reduce the risk of out-of-home placement by helping maintain stable family environments. Children and adolescents experiencing serious emotional disturbance often have very complicated plans from several different systems. High Fidelity (HiFi) Wraparound eagerly provides assistance that will help the family and child coordinate their services and supports in a way that empowers them to meet their needs as they define them. High Fidelity Wraparound is a structured, team-based process that uses an evidence-based, nationally-recognized model that partners with families to use their voice and strengths to develop a family-driven plan that promotes self-advocacy. This process is intended to keep families together in their own homes by teaching them a way to plan for their own needs.

Family Focus/Family Preservation Services

Family Preservation Services are short-term, family-focused services designed to assist families in crisis by improving parenting and family functioning while keeping children safe. The families that are served through family preservation services may require both traditional therapies and non-traditional services. Services provided to the family are both intensive and short term. The purpose of the program is to stabilize the environment by providing families with service referrals and/or direct connections to services which will lead to long term success. Families may include biological, foster, adoptive or kinship caregivers.

Family Preservation Services are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week and take place inside the family's home, based on the family's schedule. Families are linked to services identified in the family preservation assessment and case plan. The service referrals must be neighborhood-based or geographically accessible to the family. Intensive family preservation services (IFPS), like family preservation services, are family-focused, community-based crisis intervention services. IFPS are characterized by small caseloads for workers, short duration of services, 24-hour availability of staff, and the provision of services primarily in the family's home or in another environment familiar to the family. They are often offered to families as an alternative to their children's out-of-home placement. Services may be required on an "emergency" basis. There are five categories of Family Preservation referrals which typically differ in terms of primary focus, target population, and service duration:

Family Focus/Family Preservation Service	Target Population	Duration
Intensive In-Home Services	Moderate to high-risk families in crisis; Families in need of a safety plan	90 consecutive days 50 Service hours maximum
Family in need of Services	Overwhelmed parents/caretakers Family in crisis but child not deemed "dependent" by DCFS	90 consecutive days 30 service hours maximum
Parent-Teen Conflict Services	Families with parent-teen conflict/crisis due to unruly delinquent, aggressive violent, gang involvement, runaway	90 consecutive days 40 service hours maximum

Reunification Services	Families in need of initial and ongoing support with re-integrating child after removal; may include children seeking out birth parents	120 consecutive days 50 service hours maximum 5 service hours minimum the first week of placement, then as
Resource Family Support	Families in need of support for children with behavior issues, adoptive child integration, and children seeking out birth parents	90 consecutive days 30 service hours maximum 5 service hours minimum the first week of placement, then as

Evidence Based Programming

Evidence-based practice is the integration of the best available research with clinical expertise in the context of patient characteristics, culture and preferences. Evidence-based programming involves identifying, assessing, and implementing strategies that are supported by scientific research. For the purpose of the RFP, several modalities have been successfully implemented with at-risk families and families in crisis. These modalities include the following:

Parent Child Interaction Therapy (PCIT) - is an evidence-based treatment for young children (ages 3-6 years) with emotional and behavioral disorders that places emphasis on improving the quality of the parent-child relationship and changing parent-child interaction patterns. Children and their caregivers are seen together in PCIT. Most of the session time is spent coaching caregivers in the application of specific therapy skills. Concluding each session, therapist and caregiver together decide which skill to focus on most during daily 5- minute home practice sessions the following week.

Trauma Focused Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (TF CBT) - is a conjoint child and parent psychotherapy approach for children and adolescents (ages 3-18 years) who are experiencing significant emotional and behavioral difficulties related to traumatic life events. It is a treatment model that incorporates trauma-sensitive interventions with cognitive behavioral, family, and humanistic principles and techniques. Children and parents learn new skills to help process thoughts and feelings related to traumatic life events; manage and resolve distressing thoughts, feelings, and behaviors related traumatic life events; and enhance safety, growth, parenting skills, and family communication. TF-CBT is designed to be a relatively short-term treatment, typically lasting 12 to 16 sessions. Treatment may be provided for longer periods depending upon individual child and family needs. TF-CBT can be used as part of a larger treatment plan for children with complex difficulties.

Alternatives for Families Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (AF CBT) - is an evidence- supported intervention that targets (1) diverse individual child and caregiver characteristics related to conflict and intimidation in the home and (2) the family context in which aggression or abuse may occur. This approach emphasizes training in intra- and interpersonal skills designed to enhance self-control and reduce violent behavior. AF-CBT is designed to intervene with families referred for conflict or coercion, verbal or physical aggression by caregivers (including the use of excessive physical force or threats), behavior problems in children/adolescents, or child physical abuse.

Nurturing Parenting™

The Nurturing Parenting programs target all families at risk for abuse and neglect with children birth to 18 years. The programs have been adapted for special populations, including Hmong families, military families, Hispanic families, African American families, teen parents, foster and adoptive families, families in alcohol treatment and recovery, parents with special learning needs, and families with children with health challenges. The programs feature activities to foster positive parenting skills and self-nurturing, home practice exercises, family nurturing time, and activities to promote positive brain development in children birth to 18 years. Lessons can be delivered in a home-based setting, group-based setting, or combination of home and group settings. Parents and children attend separate groups that meet concurrently designed to build self-awareness, positive concept/self-esteem and build levels of empathy; teach alternatives to hitting and yelling; enhance family communication and awareness of needs; replace abusive behaviors with nurturing behaviors; promote healthy physical and emotional development; and teach appropriate role and developmental expectations. The “dosage” or length of the program refers to the number of sessions (5-25+) and is based on the family’s individual needs, strengths, and weaknesses.

Supported Visits

Supported visits provide visit “coaching” for children in the custody of DCFS and their parent/caregiver generally as a requirement of family reunification. Supported visits should be arranged in a neutral environment such as a community-based agency. Visit coaching and support is a practice that helps families to make significant changes and life alterations in a short time frame. Visit coaching can replace parenting classes and office-based visits with hands-on guidance for families in meeting their children's needs. Visit coaching and support directly address the issues that brought the child into care, building on family strengths and guiding improved parenting. This service requires parent coaches to support visitation with families after a recent custody episode. The visit coach helps parents take charge of visits and demonstrate more responsiveness to each child. Visit coaching begins with an agreement with the family that identifies the child-specific needs to be addressed and an understanding of how those needs relate to the risks that brought the child into care. Visit coaching can be provided in a variety of ways and settings by individuals that have been trained in visit coaching principles and methods.

Medical Case Management

Medical Case Management Services consist of case management services and care coordination for medically neglected children referred by DCFS. The services provided will support families and their team with medical concerns/diagnoses that have brought them to the attention of the agency. The ideal approach is a collaborative process of assessment, planning, facilitation, care coordination, education, evaluation, medical treatment, and advocacy for options and services to meet an individual's and family's immediate and comprehensive health needs through communication and available resources to promote quality care and cost-effective outcomes such as child wellness/stabilization and autonomy through advocacy.

Youth Acceptance Project (or Family Acceptance Program)

The Youth Acceptance Project works with the families of lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender (LGBT) and gender non-conforming children and youth in foster care or involved in the child welfare continuum. The intervention serves as a family preservation and family reunification tool, assisting families who are struggling with the sexual orientation and/or gender identity/expression of their child. Family advocates use a psycho-educational model to address the misinformation, resistance, fear and grief that families often struggle with; ultimately moving families to a place of acceptance of their child. The intervention is based on research that documents the impact and harm that families can create when they are not accepting of their child. The result is families that become accepting and affirming of their children. The intervention reduces the time that children spend in foster care and reunites children with their families.

Multiethnic Placement Act Assessment (MEPA)

DCFS is seeking assistance to administer the MEPA assessment of a child's placement needs related to race, color or national origin (RCNO). The assessment must be conducted by one of the following:

- A licensed child psychiatrist
- A licensed child psychologist
- A licensed independent social worker
- A licensed professional clinical counselor

The primary goals of the project are.

To develop and deliver effective in-home services that can contribute to stabilizing and strengthening the family to prevent the need for out-of-home care whenever possible.

Objectives:

Prevent out of home placement for youth

Improve family and youth functioning

Reduce involvement with the juvenile justice system

Reduce recidivism into the child welfare system

Strengthen family supports and access to community-based services

Improve parenting skills for caregivers

Reduce placement moves for children and youth
