Racism is a Public Health Crisis

Cuyahoga County Executive Armond Budish and Cuyahoga County Council referred legislation to the Human Resources, Appointments and Equity Committee declaring racism as a public health crisis in Cuyahoga County at the June 23rd County Council meeting. The resolution addresses structural/systemic racism and the disparities between Black and White people specifically in healthcare, the criminal justice system, healthy food, safe and affordable housing, well-paying jobs and business ownership opportunities, quality transportation, educational opportunities, and safe places to be active. The County's Citizens' Advisory Council on Equity will work to combat these disparities through policy, procurement and structural changes.
